

English Graduate Courses
Summer 2011
Fall 2011 – Spring 2012

Summer 2011

586.101

Article Writing and Professionalism Workshop

Kit Hume

This course helps you work up one or more potential articles to the level needed for sending them out to journals. We do this through collaborative workshopping. Participants have come from English and Language departments, CAS, CompLit, and other humanistic programs.

In addition, you learn about professionalism—how journals are ranked, how departments and programs are ranked, how to structure your career, how university administrators “think” when looking at faculty records, what kinds of documents you will need for your job hunt, and what kinds of documents you will need to be able to produce during your untenured years as an assistant professor. The earlier in your career you learn this, the better you can prepare yourself for the lean job market.

Prerequisites: one or more seminar papers worth working up as articles. A dissertation chapter is also appropriate.

Remember summer tuition is not covered on your Taship; If you are taking comps, defending or graduating Summer, you must be registered!

<http://www.outreach.psu.edu/programs/language-institute/Courses.html>
for information on Arabic, Chinese, French, German, Japanese, Latin, Russian and Spanish programs
June 15-July 2

Summer Tuition Assistance information and application can be found on the College of Liberal Arts Website at <http://www.la.psu.edu/index.shtml> under Graduate Student Funding.